I take pleasure in recommending your Reseauls as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy, results—one in a case of secondary apphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottless of your medicine. The other is a case of scrotial of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rossadule is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

THE YOUNG WIDOW.

She is cunning—aometimes witty,
Free and eary, but not bold;
Like an apple, tipe and mellow,
Not too young, and not too old;
Half inviting, half-repellant,
Now advancing, and now sby.
There is mischlef in her laughter.
There is danged in her eye.

She has studied human nature; She is schooled in every art, she has taken her diploma, As the mistress of the heart! She can tell the very moment When to sigh and when to smile, Oh, a maid is sometimes charming, But a widow, all the while!

Are you sad? oh, then how serious Will her pretty face become! You are angry; she is wretched, Saddened, friendless, tearless, du Are you mirthful? how her laughter, Silver-sounding, will ring out? She can lure, and catch and play you, As an angler does a trout! As an angier wow.

Ah! "old fossils," nearly fifty,

Ah! "old fossils," nearly first,
Who are plotting, deep and wise;
Ye "Adonlees," of twenty,
With the love-light in your eyes !
You may practice all the lessons
Taught by Capid since the fall,
But I know a little widow
Who can win and fool you all!

Perils of Buffalo Hunting--Withou Food for Five Days--Wonderful Perseverance and Escape of a Boy.

rom the Leavenworth Commer In January last, John Wilson, a lad In January last, John Wilson, a lad about 19 years of age, left his home on Musquito Bottom, in company with his lather and two neighbors, for the purpose of hunting buffalo on the Upper Arkansas. The weather was all that could be wished, game was found in abundance, and the hunters secured as much as their teams were able to haul back so long a distance, and on the morning of the 10th preparations were made for a return home.

Not so, however, with young Wilson, who had become enamored with the wild cenes and wilder sports. To him it was new life, of which he had often read, but and now become a living actor in its fasci-nations. To the left of the river, and beand the skirt of the timber in which the yond the skirt of the timber in which the hunters were encamped, stretched the unbroken plain, on which, within range of vision, quietly grazed a small herd of buffslo, and here and there scattered groups of antelope. At sight of this our young hunter became excited, and only groups of antelope. At sight of this our young hunter became excited, and only "one more shot," before departing, was insisted on. Shouldering his gun hastily, he started out and was soon lost to view as he picked his way quietly along the river bank and timber.

Nothing further was thought of the young man's whim by the father and his companions, who were cooking rations for the return trip and peacefully smoking their pipes.

for the return tnp and peacetary smoking their pipes.

Young Wilson found the distance to the game much farther than he anticipated, but on getting within long-range shot, his presence was discovered, and a general stampede was the result. Nothing daunted, he continued the chase, fully determined on the last shot and a dead bufallo. Onward he went, over the plain, through wood and thicket, regardless of all impediments, but four legs could through wood and thicket, regardless of all impediments, but four legs could wander farther than two, and he was left far in the rear. Time had elapsed, unheeded by him: night was upon him, and, for the first time, he realized that he was alone, upon the vast plain, his game beyond his reach, and companions, he knew not whither. His reckoning was lost, he stood bewildered. To add to his misery, one of those fierce winds, so common in whither. His reckoning was lost, no stood bewildered. To add to his misery, one of those fierce winds, so common in that section, came up, and with it a driving, blinding sleet, which transformed him into a walking icicle.

Cold and benumbed, he started, as he supposed, for the wood along the ravine, but instead, trayeled from it—now hastening, now slackening his pace as the cold affected him. At length he came upon a small clump of bushes, under which he took shelter, sat down, and was soon asleep and lost to his lonely position.

The boy not returning in a reasonable time to the camp, his father and companions became uneasy, and set out in search of him. Guns were fired, Indian whoops and yells to the full extent of their ings, but no answer came in response. The same was continued throughout the night, and large fires were kindeded on the highest eminences, in hopes of attracting his attention, but all in vain. f attracting his attention, but all in vain Iorning came, but yet with it no boy. 'he day clapsed in fruitless search, follow-The day elapsed in fruttess search, follow-ed by another night of demonstrations similar to those of the first. Thus passed two nights and one day, and with them the hopes of his friends. The anguish of the parent in this extremity was almost unbearable. To go back without his son, he could not, for there too was an anxious other fondly awaiting their return from On the third day, after fully deliberating

Awakening from his sleep through feeling of coldness, young Wilson looked out upon the dreary waste before him. The wind still howled, but the sleet had subsided. His frozen clothes clanked about his body as he arose and picked up the gun. He now tully comprehended his situation, and his first thoughts were of his triends and something to eat. To situation, and his first thoughts were of his triends and something to eat. To choose his course, prizzled him, yet no time was to be lost. He plucked from one of the bushes a sprig, sat it on end, and in his boyish way resolved on going in the direction it might fall. As the result will show, it tell in the opposite direction to that in which his friends were, and he wandered farther and farther away.

rection to that in which his friends, were, and he wandered farther and farther away.

For procuring food, his gun was now his only reliance, and as he trudged along, a sharp look out was kept for game. The first day out nothing in the game line presented itself, but on the second day a small herd of buffalo, on which he fired, passed him. The shot was short of the mark, and they were soon away. So passed the third and fourth days. Weakened by hunger and fatigue, he nevertheless kept up good courage and hoped that if he did not find his friends, he at least might fall in with other hunters or indians, friendly or otherwise, he did not care much which, so long as his scalpment of his vacant atomach offered.

On the morning of the fith day he came to a small stream, skirted by a few scattered trees. Here he gathered up some broken limbs, and pulled out from beneath the roots dry grass enough to start a fire. This he did by firing off his gun and blowing the wad into a blaze, which soon grew into a warming fire, by which his frozen clothes were thawed out and himself warmed. By this time he was too hungry and worn out to proceed much fatther, and he resolved on seconing up.

TWO PILLS A DOSE. The most powerful, yet innocent, Vegetable Ca-

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver Stomach, and Bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alco-holic Extract of Mandrako, which is by many times more Powerfal, Acting, and Searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it speedly from all ob structions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a catharile is indicated, these Pills will give entire satisfac-tion in every case. They seer full.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspopela, and in cases of laver Compania, Dypoposa, sextreme Costivenees, Dr. Hoofand's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The bonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Ton to pulsa up the system. The Bitters or Ton to pulsa the Biood, strengthens the nerves-regulates the Liver, and gives strength, energy, and vigot.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Toole, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assall you.

These medicines are sold by all Druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere.

Recollect that it is Dr. Hoopt.axu's (Heiman Paradors that are an interestly used and high.
